

- YES, please list me as a supporter of the Texas Coalition for Worksite Wellness. We agree that Texas needs a health care system that helps people stay healthy, manage their chronic conditions and avoid costly complications.

Public and private employers should look for ways to invest in prevention and lower barriers to preventive care. Policymakers, employers and insurance plans should work to reduce health costs and improve patient outcomes.

By investing in prevention, wellness and value-based benefit design in our workplaces and health benefit systems, we can build a stronger, healthier, more economically vibrant Texas.
